Pyrolysis is the thermal decomposition of materials at elevated temperatures in an inert atmosphere. It involves the change of chemical composition and is irreversible. The word is coined from the Greek-derived elements pyro "fire" and lysis "separating".. Pyrolysis is most commonly used to the treatment of organic materials. It is one of the processes involved in charring wood.

Pyrolysisâ€“gas chromatographyâ€“mass spectrometry is a method of chemical analysis in which the sample is heated to decomposition to produce smaller molecules that are separated by gas chromatography and detected using mass spectrometry.. How it works. Pyrolysis is the thermal decomposition of materials in an inert atmosphere or a vacuum. The sample is put into direct contact with a platinum ...

Analytical method development and validation procedures are vital in the discovery and development of drugs and pharmaceuticals. Analytical methods are used to aid in the process of drug synthesis, screen potential drug candidates, support formulation studies, monitor the stability of bulk pharmaceuticals and formulated products, and test final products for release.

May the force be with you: By using intermolecular forces to artificially control the assembly of I^2A sheets, a multimodal analytical system was developed that allows five readouts and dual qualitative/quantitative analysis. This satisfies both point-of-care testing (POCT) and laboratory-based testing. This was used to diagnose Mycoplasma Pneumoniae infection and could eradicate ...
