In mathematics, a recurrence relation is an equation that recursively defines a sequence or multidimensional array of values, once one or more initial terms are given: each further term of the sequence or array is defined as a function of the preceding terms.. The term difference equation sometimes (and for the purposes of this article) refers to a specific type of recurrence relation.

The hazards of gas service were already well known in the 19th century, when many cities built their first gas distribution systems. Gas in those days was not "natural" gas; it was a product manufactured by roasting coal, or sometimes the tarry residue of petroleum refining, in an atmosphere depleted of oxygen.
