In environmental chemistry, the chemical oxygen demand (COD) is an indicative measure of the amount of oxygen that can be consumed by reactions in a measured solution. It is commonly expressed in mass of oxygen consumed over volume of solution which in SI units is milligrams per litre (mg/L). A COD test can be used to easily quantify the amount of organics in water.

The ability of various pollutants (and their derivatives) to mutually affect their toxic actions complicates the risk assessment based solely on environmental levels (Calabrese, 1991). Deleterious effects on populations are often difficult to detect in feral organisms since many of these effects tend to manifest only after longer periods of time.

Fish bioaccumulation and biomarkers in environmental risk

Biochemical Oxygen Demand (BOD, also called Biological Oxygen Demand) is the amount of dissolved oxygen needed (i.e. demanded) by aerobic biological organisms to break down organic material present in a given water sample at certain temperature over a specific time period. The BOD value is most commonly expressed in milligrams of oxygen consumed per litre of sample during 5 days of incubation ...

GUIDELINE DEVELOPMENT. The ACS convened an expert panel to review the existing early detection guideline for women at increased risk and for MRI screening based on evidence that has accumulated since the last revision in 2002 to 2003.
