The United States has made great progress since 1970 in cleaning the air, but the job is far from complete. November 15, 1990 marks a milestone in Clean Air Act history, the signing of the 1990 Amendments. These amendments set the stage for protecting the ozone layer, reducing acid rain and toxic pollutants, and improving air quality and visibility.

I've joked to my friends that if there is anything that proves how important I consider the clean energy topic to be, it's me digging into electricity pricing. I have a natural aversion to economics - I've demoted that aversion somewhat from the position of idealist elitism it carried back when I was a teenager!
